

Bellslea Park (setting on previous page): Named for a local soccer ground where as a child with a little ingenuity you could watch Highland League football for nothing. It had a wonderfully atmospheric old wooden grandstand, so I suppose I must have paid sometimes. The musical idea here was to stop trying to reach for formal novelty and do something strictly orthodox in structure with repeated motifs in the usual places.

Bellslea Park in 2006