

Castle Stalker

Slow air

Castle Stalker: A tune from John MacLachlan's edition of The Piper's Assistant (1854), a lovely little air named for the old stronghold of the Stewarts of Appin dramatically situated on the shores of Loch Linnhe and now restored; the sweet sentiment of the tune itself seems typical in its way of the Romantic view of the Highlands we find in Mendelssohn and Scott.

Castle Stalker