

DOUGAL GRAHAM. 1724-1779.

Dougal Graham of Stirling (1721-1779) was probably the best selling author in 18th century Scotland making a large part of his living by writing and selling chapbooks. He frequently used the pseudonym 'The Scots Piper', and the piper logo for the present collection is reproduced from one of his plates

Dougal Graham's cover for "John Cheap the Chapman" which came to be a generic name for all men of his trade
